Law House Advocates and Legal Consultants © 2011

All rights in this website are reserved.

The content of this website consists of general information only and does not constitute any type of advice, legal or otherwise. Consequently, you should not regard the contents of this website as a substitute for professional advice. Law House Advocates and Legal Consultants shall not be obliged to update this website. Law House Advocates and Legal Consultants does not make any warranty, whether expressed or implied, with respect to the content of this website, including without limitation, any warranty as to the accuracy, completeness, merchantability or fitness for a particular purpose or any other warranties howsoever arising. You are fully responsible for all acts, decisions and/or lack thereof arising from your access to this website and all information contained therein. Law House Advocates and Legal Consultants shall not be liable to you or any party in any manner whatsoever for any damages, including without limitation, direct, indirect, consequential, compensatory, special, incidental or punitive damages, as a result of or in connection with your access to this website.

All texts, photographs, publications, designs, graphics, images, and all other elements contained on this website and all intellectual property therein, including without limitation, all copyrights and trademarks (including without limitation the “Law House Advocates and Legal Consultants” trademark), are the sole and exclusive property of Law House Advocates and Legal Consultants. You may not reproduce, copy, create a derivative work from, imitate, sell, distribute, license or transmit in any form any part of this website, including without limitation, any part of the publications set out in this website without the prior written consent of Law House Advocates and Legal Consultants, such permission to be granted or denied at Law House Advocates and Legal Consultants’ sole discretion